

Overview

Description of the project

The goal of this project is to learn about computer and laptop mice and touchpads, which are used for various functions that operate on the device.

