Problem Statement of the Project

Amelia is having a drawing competition at school. She needed a sketchbook to see some examples of drawings. She went to buy it, but the store owner said they currently don't have the drawing books in stock. She was worried and told her father. Her father said even if you don't have a sketchbook, you can get some examples and ideas for drawing from another source. She wonders, how? she asked. Can we also help her to get the examples to win the competition?
